" . . . is dedicated to the officers and men who sailed

in that conflict,
and to the sons and daughters who follow in their footsteps and

The Cape Cod Times called it Cape Cod's home grown Boot camp. Orientation in theory is designed to transform an ordinary young man or woman into a Maritime Academy cadet. Pressure applied by the upper-jobs teaches the youngie to operate in the uncertain environment aboard ship.

However, perspective determines how an individual views the Orientation process . . . . . .

"I was never so tired in my life."
- a youngie

"I didn't think I'd be able to keep that pace up for two weeks."
- a squad leader

"Co-operation was the only way to survive; for us and them."
- a cadet officer

"The cadets of the Class of 1994 promise to develop into an outstanding professional class, a direct reflection on the Class of 1991 which brought them through Indoctrination."
- Commandant

"Eyes in the Boat!"
"We're waiting for you!"
"Sir, mine is not to question why . . ."
"Who am I?"
"Assume the position."
"546 feet, seven and five eights inches."
"WRONG!"
"By the right flank . . . ?"
"Sing ! Sing the National Anthem !"
"You youngie scum bags!"
"I ?! You are not an 'I'! You are a cadet candidate!"

It began in Tenerife, The Canary Islands. No one suspected that the tall ship appearing over the horizon would be a Soviet training ship. The DRUZHBA, out of Odessa in the Crimea, pulled in and tied up astern of our own Patriot State.

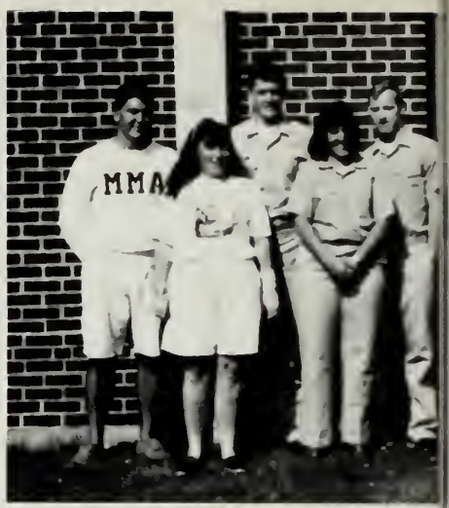
Awkwardness slowed the initial greetings, but seamen have a persistence that could overcome the differences in culture and language. In addition to the official receptions, informal meetings between the Russian and American cadets opened new friendships.

Two years later, several Americans, including some of our cadets, sailed with the DRUZHBA from the Soviet Union to the United States, including a stop at the Academy.

In Buzzards Bay, the local residents as well as the Regiment, showed the Soviets the Cape and took them into their homes, demonstrating an understanding that DRUZHBA means friendship.

STUDENT LIFE

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION



As we come to the end of the first centennial, the Student Government has come to its first major crossroad. Through the hard work and dedication of several people, we have had a very productive and educational year. The SGA family took its role seriously as being a large contributor to the decision-making process at the Academy. Our voices were heard and our questions answered. They have opened several channels for our descendants to follow, and we hope that they continue to make themselves heard. SGA hopes that the year went as smoothly for the regiment as they had wished. We deserved it.

STUDENT ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVES

The Student Admissions Representatives is a club made up of 50 cadets who volunteer their time to assist the Admissions/Recruiting effort. This club has been very active at the Academy recently, as interest in the Academy has continued to grow. SAR staff - including past SAR presidents Glenn Macario and Ron Heeman, former SAR vice-president Brendan McNeill, and former SAR Tammy Foye - were very active, participating in all SAR functions.

SARs have many duties in the Admissions Office, including telemarketing, giving campus tours, doing general office work, attending college fairs, and working at the Open Houses throughout the year. The highlight of this year was the April 28th Welcome Aboard ceremony. Over 850 people turned out to dee firefighting demonstrations, survival suit exercises, ship tours, bridge and diesel simulator evolutions. Remarks by the new president, RADM Cressy, made a lasting impression on all those who came to learn about the Academy.

"Start it up !" At the time the rays of the dawning sun touch the campus, the Band signals the beginning and end of each morning formation. Without their drumbeat to guide the Regiment, all would be chaotic; without their bugler, the American flag would rise un-heralded above a silent parade field. Away from campus, they provide the Academy with a unit capable of displaying to the public the Academy's best, and proudest, cadets. They are the Band; their heads held high, their stride noble, their notes lucid, and their drumbeat sturdy.

Be proud of yourselves, Band members. You have done very well, and with perseverance, will continue to grow stronger in the years to come.

Dear Band

I have really enjoyed being your band commander this past year. All of you have made it a great year for me and the band. I will remember all the good, and even a few of the bad, times we had together, and I will miss you all. I wish you all the best of luck in the future. Congradulations on a job well done this past year.

REGIMENTAL HONOR GUARD

For many years the Honor Guard has been there to represent the Academy off campus, in uniform.

Many times their tasks are thankless, and we often wondered, as they stream back late at night in dress uniform, what possesses them.

When asked, they often smile and say, "Hey, what else is there to do?"

Whether it is because they enjoy firing rifles, carrying sabers, marching in parades, or even bearing a graduate's casket in a funeral procession, their time, practice and dedication will consistently bring credit to the Academy.

With 100 new rifles, the Honor Guard was finally ready to rebuild. Through the hard work of the staff and membership, the Honor Guard participated in more functions than ever before. From a color guard at Boston Garden for the Bruins to the many parades and pageants, the cadets were always ready to give their time and would like to thank Darren O'Connor for an excellent year.

Honor Guard Memories:

"Where's the van?" HS, "Is there a beach around here?" KHC, "Body parts you never thought you had." NN, "Don't drop him!" DO, "I thought you got the flags!" SB, "MOM, DAD!" kids, "What are you doing tomorrow?" DO, "We're lost!"

Boston, CT, Mass, Falmouth, Brockton, O-God Dorchester. On campus, off campus, "Who brought a credit card?" In parades, at rest, "BY THE RIPPLE!"; "Relax" DO. Thank you coach and CDR H.

"15 Functions in One Weekend Club"; "They go up as port ariels and come down as kindling!"; "Mr. Ascot Man!"; "The syrap will get you!"; "Are we there yet?"; "Where's the bell?"; "Easy!"; "Shut-it."; "Yogi and Boo-boo"; "Watch, they'll even hold the door open for us."; Above all else the Almighty Motto: "WING IT"

The Canal school needed to expand its winter sports schedule. Skiing was a popular choice with many seniors signing up to join the first ever Team-Buc Downhill Squad.

The team spent months preparing for their first meet. All the equipment had been arranged, transportation was made available, and lodging was prepared. The team began the trip north with anticipation dancing in their hearts. Maritime pride ran deep and warmed the Buccaneers against the chill mountain air. Each man walked proudly onto the slopes . . . Victory was at hand.

But something was terribly wrong . . . the opposition failed to appear. There would be no race. Distraught skiers comforted each other, offering reassurance that they had frightened off the competition. But a sadness hung on the team as would ice on the swaying pines around them. Many were able to relax only after retiring to the lodge with a cup of hot chocolate. (Riiiight . . . . !)

LOONEY '91

WORLD TOUR '88

Fort Lauderdale, Florida
Bridgetown, Barbados
Tenerife, Canary Islands
Naples, Italy
Palma de Majorca, Spain

Gibby and the Cruisers played their opening act in Fort Lauderdale at clubs up and down the strip. Who'll forget the performances at Penrods and the Candy Store?

In Barbados, we were struck by the abject poverty situated immediately next to the luxury hotels and cruise liners. For some, it was their first opportunity to dive in the tropics. Most were surprised at what the B'dos dollar would buy at "The Best Little Wharehouse in Barbados."

A long passage across the pond brought us to the Canary Islands. The Soviet tall ship DRUZHBA joined us in Tenerife. Little did we know we would see her again. We partied with the Europeans on holiday on the beaches and in the clubs.

Naples, in the shadows of Mt. Vesuvius, was a sailors town, so most of us took advantage of ComCad's liberal special-lib policy and headed to Rome. Others chose to spend their time exploring the ruins of Pompeii.

Palma de Majorca was the place to shop. Pearls were what we were after, and with what little money was left after the rest of cruise was spent on gifts for loved ones and one last drink for ourselves.

One cruise down, three to go.

SHELLBACK '89

Vera Cruz, Mexico
Trinidad
Curacao
San Juan, Puerto Rico
Port Canaveral, Florida

The first Port of Call was Vera Cruz. After a day of shopping, nightfall drew us together at the Plaza for the local culture and cheap drinks. Port of Spain, Trinidad found us touring beaches by day and "night clubs" in the evening.

However, everyone had their minds on Rio. But before we could get there, the polliwogs needed to appear before King Neptune and his Royal Court. Even Neptune could not foresee the cancellation of Port of Call Rio de Janeiro

Curacao was chosen as a substitute port, and this little Dutch island proved to have the best diving of any 1989 port. If you were thinking of the compound, "Don't Do it."

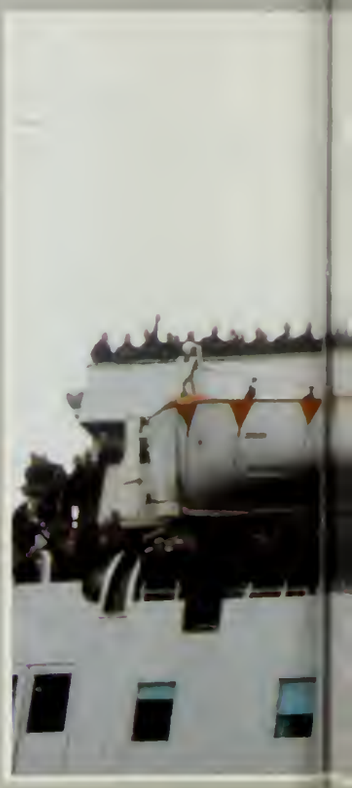
El Morro was a popular draw in San Juan along with the casinos and Lazers.

If you could get out of Port Canaveral, the beaches to the South were a popular retreat and to the north was the Kennedy Space Center. The smart people headed toward Disney World or Sea World.

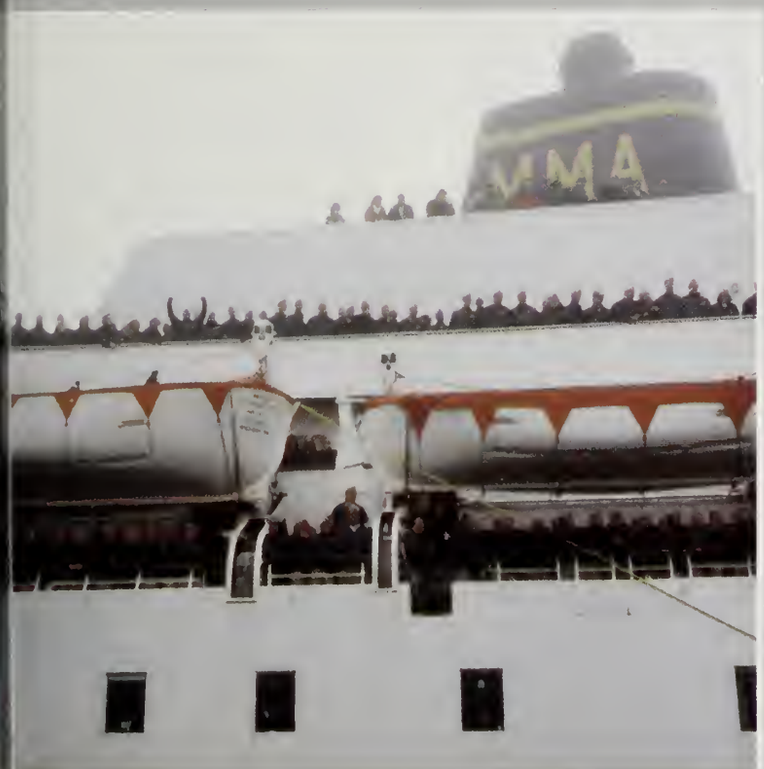
The newly ordained Shellbacks all looked forward to that trip down the Cape Cod Canal.

CUTBACK '90

Tampa, Florida
New Orleans, Louisiana
Nassau, Bahamas Islands



Well, this year's cruise might not have taken us where originally hoped, but we still had a chance to head for the warm days and exciting nights down south. Tampa brought us the luxury of the warm Florida weather, New Orleans showed us the Cajun way of having fun, and Paradise Island broke us all in Nassau. Just remember the false alarm at 0100 off Dry Tortugas, the fire at the Cat's Meow, and our two arrivals into Nassau. It might not have been long, but it was fun while it lasted.



LOONEY CRUISE '91

New Orleans, Louisiana
Willemstad, Curacao
Miami, Florida

Looney Cruise is definitely the right name for this cruise. No one will forget Crazy Jack and our detour to Miami, or the Navy ship delaying our departure from New Orleans, or the shrimp that left us DIW for half a day, or our sudden stop in B-Bay. Even with all that we had a fun time, especially at the Cat's Meow, Rum Runners, and Hooters. New Orleans hadn't changed much, still as good a party city as it was last year. Curacao offered great diving, beautiful beaches, and cheap beer. Bayside and Miami Beach were the highlight of Miami. It was a good cruise that, for different reasons none of us will forget.

NATIONAL MARITIME DAY

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

By His Excellency

WILLIAM F. WELD

Governor

A PROCLAMATION

1991

WHEREAS: In war and peace, merchant ships and merchant sea personnel have maintained a proud record of service to our nation and the Commonwealth from the tiny sailing ship Mayflower, to the nuclear powered submarine Polaris, to the automated liners of tomorrow; and

WHEREAS: The first transatlantic voyage by a steamship was made by an American vessel, the S.S. Savannah, on May 22, 1819, from Savannah Georgia to Liverpool, England; and

WHEREAS: The anniversary of this day serves to remind all Americans of the importance of the merchant fleet to our national life, linking our country with its trading partners in peaceful enterprise, and when called upon, carrying personnel and equipment to protect our interests and friends overseas; and

WHEREAS: The maintenance of a strong and competitive fleet to meet these demands is a complex task requiring the best efforts of all sectors of our society;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM F. WELD, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in accordance with Chapter 282 of the Acts of 1964, do hereby proclaim May 22nd, 1991 as and urge the citizens of the Commonwealth to take cognizance of this event and to participate fittingly in its observance.

Given at the Executive Chamber in Boston, this twentieth of March, one thousand nine hundred and ninety-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the two hundred and sixteenth.

GOD SAVE THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

Eternal Father, strong to save, whose arm doth bind
the restless, wave,
who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep, its own appointed limits keep,
Oh hear us when we cry to Thee for those in peril on the sea.

Lord guard and guide the men who fly through all great spaces of the sky,
Be with them traversing the air, the darkening storms
and sunlight fair,
Oh hear us when we lift our prayer for those in peril in the air.

Oh Trinity of love and power, Our bretheren shield in danger's hour,
From rock and tempest, fire and foe,
Protect them where-soe'er they go, thus ever more shall rise to Thee glad hymns of praise from praise from air and sea.
Amen.

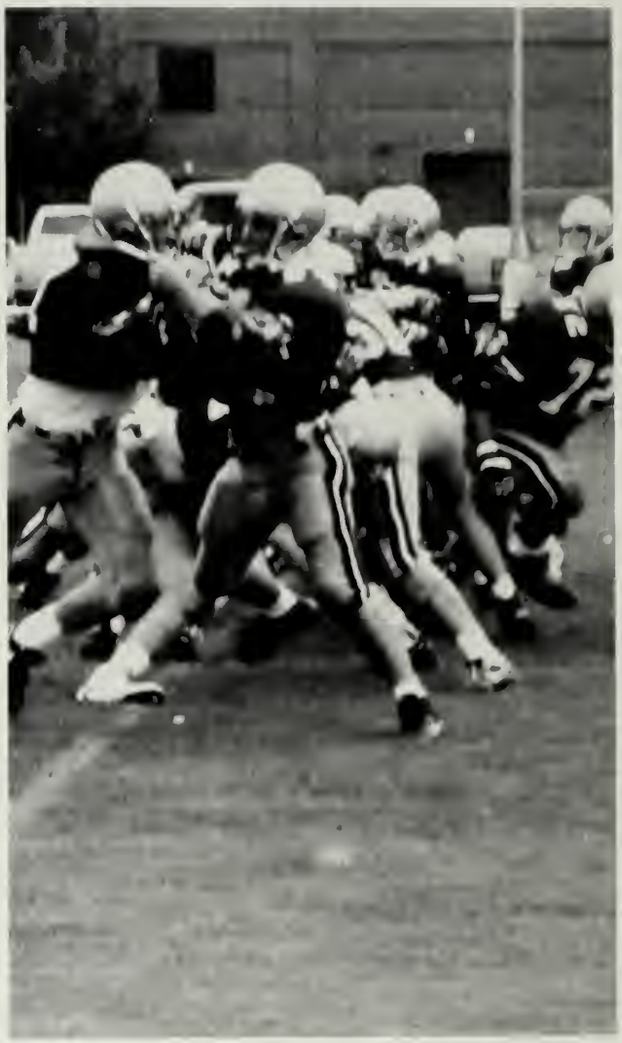
FOOTBALL



The Buccaneers are used to hard work. Every inch is paid for with blood. The 1991 Bucs fought hard for their 3-6 record defeating Curry College, Westfield State, and Southeastern Massachusetts University. Senior tri-captains Bob Delhome, Jason Berg, and Bob Foley provided intense defense on the field along with positive leadership. The underclass contributed considerably to the Buc football squad. Among the notable players were Derek Gagnon, Dave Barnes, Kevin Foglesanger, and Doug Crook. Football was the only sport blessed with many senior athletes. Seniors Paul Costa, Joe Hood, Darren Leskoski, Bruce Park, Jeff Stuart, John Sullivan, Eric Svenson, and David Ward gave their all for Coach Don Ruggeri.

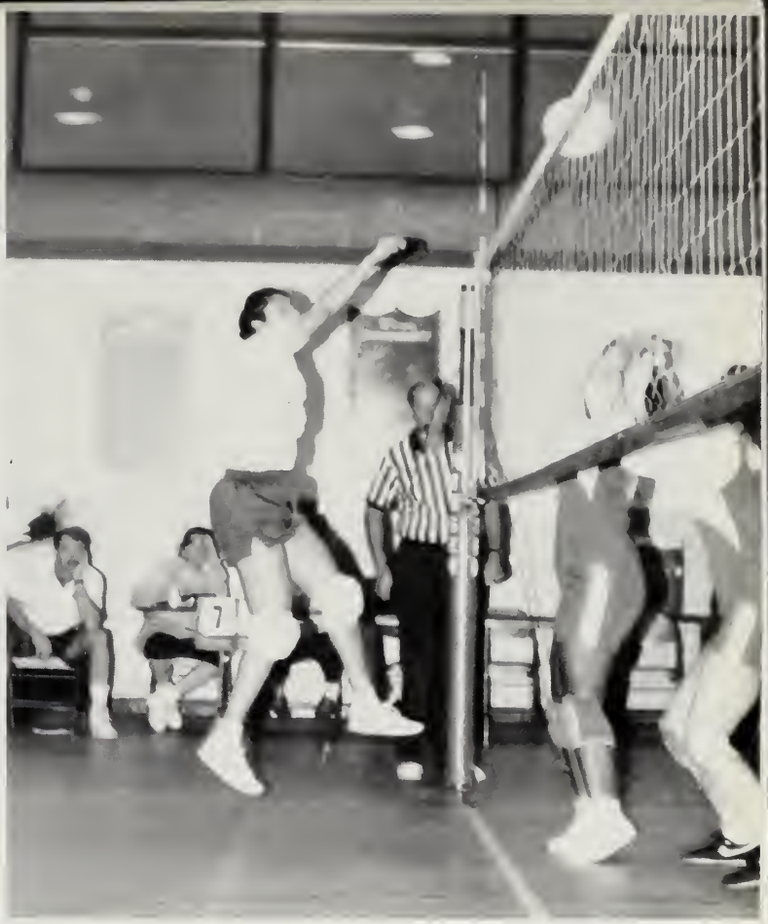
Volleyball



Oriana Melendez, Eileen Bromley, and Jan O'Rourke led the Lady Bucs to their best ever season. Among the teams faced by the women were Mt. Ida, U Mass Boston, Naval Prep, Daniel Webster College, Endicott, North Adams, and Fitchburg. The remarkable leadership of the senior women is apparent in the 12-8 season finish . . . an incredible improvement over the previous season with its two wins. The underclass, including juniors Martha Rodas and Jen Adams, sophomore Anne Toal, and freshmen Ellen Ochtman and Christine Ratches provided both a strong offense and a sturdy defense. Their skill coupled with the kind of determination displayed by the Class of 1991 will carry them far.

SAILING

The 1990-91 Fall and Spring season was full of ups and downs--but with a big interest in the freshman class and the possibility of additional coaching, Maritime sailing is looking great.

The team was led by head coach Tom Tucker and captain Kevin McKee with junior co-captain Don Smith. The remaining strength of the team being the large number of underclassmen including: sophomores Chappell, Tobin, and Best and freshmen Demo, Rivard, and Morash.

Highlights from the year include winning the Underdog Trophy in the spring and some close calls at Donaghy Bowl, Protest Trophy and J-22 Sloop Eliminations, as well as the "famous" protest at the McMillan Cup Eliminations. A major disappointment was a one point loss to Northeastern in the NE Dinghy Tournament.

Soccer

The Buccaneer Soccer team came out strong including a win over Maine Maritime at Homecoming, under the direction of coach Fred Toran and leadership of the teams two seniors, William Reid and Mark McManus. However the road was hard on our soccer team. For his efforts in the net, Mark McManus was named Senior Athlete of the Year.

The underclassmen were responsible for much of the Buc offense. Particularly effective at earning points were junior Seth Chandler and sophomore Gerry Murphy. Throughout the season, tough one point losses like U Mass Boston, North Adams, and Salve Regina plagued the Bucs. The combined effort of the team brought them a 7-12 final record.

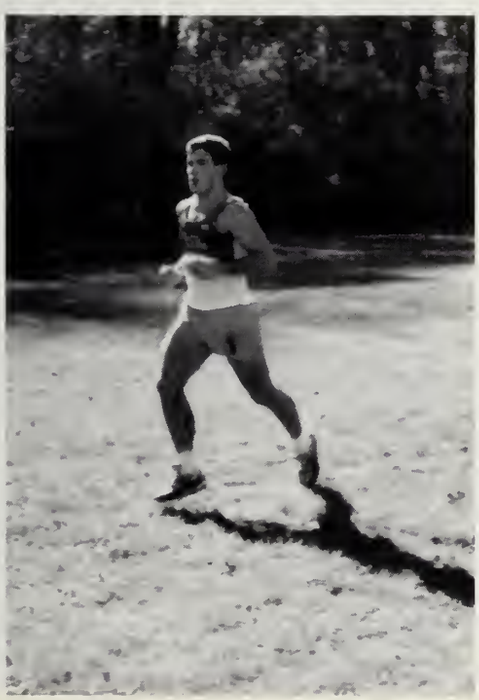
Cross Country

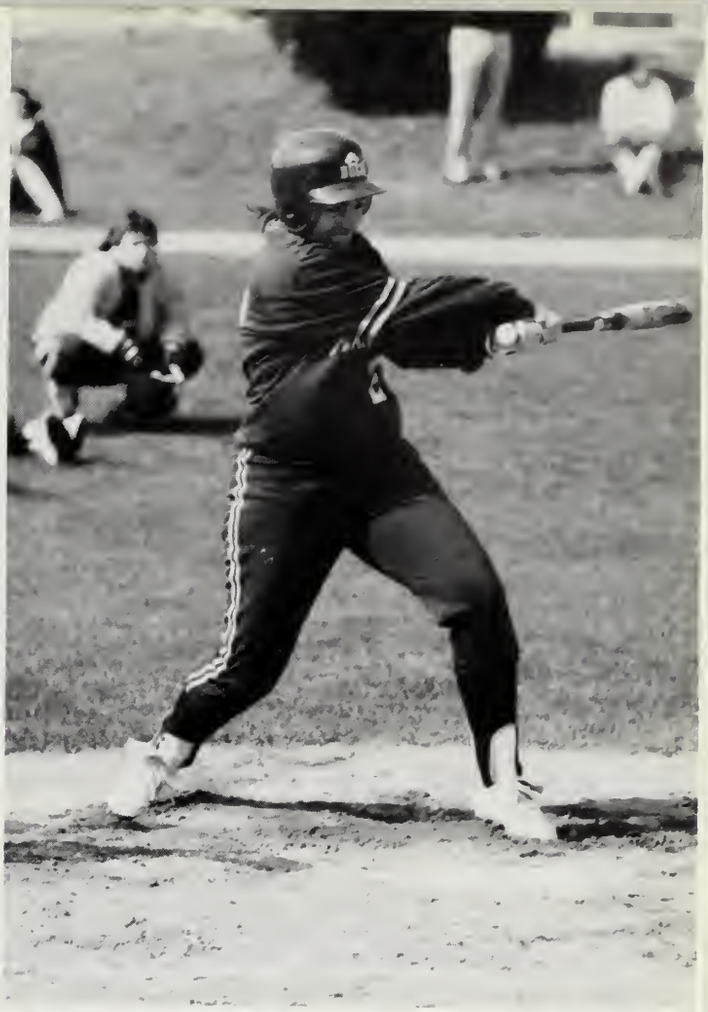
The Bucs ran a competitive season. Cross Country was another team with few seniors. Glenn Macario and Matthew Riel ran as the only two seniors in the pack. Both ran an impressive season, but the true star of the team was junior Dan Krokosky. The guidance the seniors have provided him will have prepared him well to lead next years cross country team.

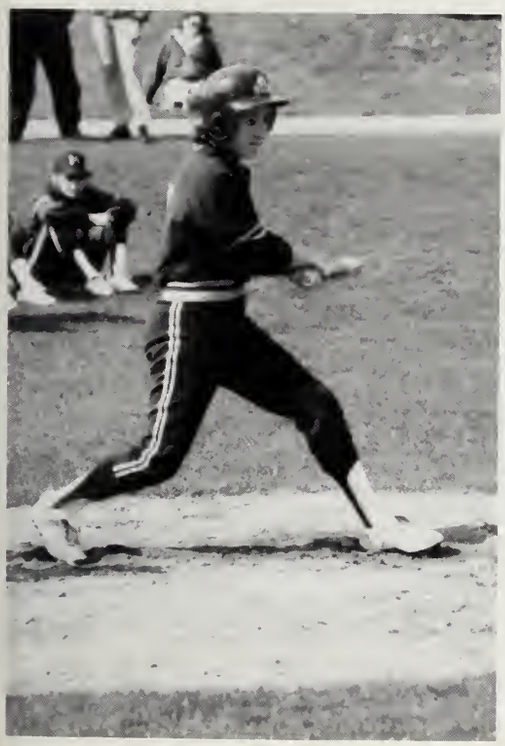
areer Sports

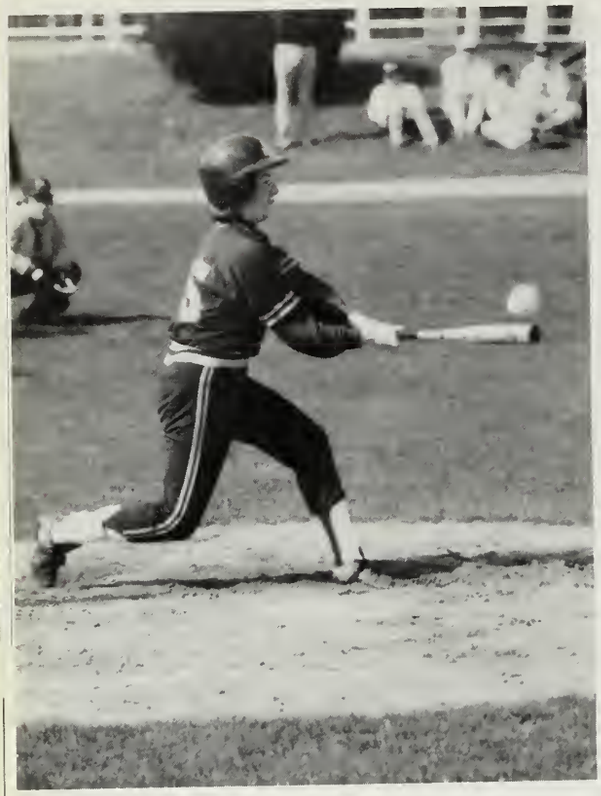


Softball

With only 13 women in uniform, coach Walter Yohai and the Lady Bucs earned a 4-7 season finish. Team captain Jan O'Rourke was the only senior on the roster. Her leadership on the team helped her earn the Senior Athlete of the Year award. Junior Martha Rodas and freshman Chris Ratches served as the Maritime battery almost exclusively. Sophomore Angela Verrier had a fine season at bat and in the field. Sophomores Nicole Hepper and Annemary Allix and freshman Tricia Kelley also made significant contributions to the team.







Lacrosse

The Buccaneer Lax team had a rough season with only two seniors on the squad. David Eldridge and Mark McManus closed their final season with a disappointing 1-10 record. Despite a dedicated effort, many games ended closely with the Academy on the low side. The determination displayed by the seniors will certainly inspire the underclass to strive for that one extra point in the seasons ahead.

BASEBALL

Buc-ball competed in one of Academy athletic's busiest seasons. With 32 games on the schedule, senior captain John Martin, the lone first classman on the team had his work cut out for him.

Despite strong performances from Pat Lamb, Kevin Foglesanger, Pete Dicecco, Chris Sylvia, Brian O'Connor, and George Maxcey the opposition was able to pull ahead of the very young Buccaneers.

Martin's leadership has influenced the juniors on the team and the future of Buccaneer Baseball is bright.

Good-bye and Good Luck

To The Class of 1991,

The Staff of the 1991 Muster began production of this Annual with the intention of presenting the best possible accounting of the Class of 1991's four year sentence at the Academy. We have tried to be faithful to this goal.

Certainly, each Mate and Engineer will have different memories of their lives on Taylor's Point. Each will recall the same event with a different perspective. Each will remember that one classmate, upper-job, instructor, or officer that influenced their life.

It is our hope that everyone will find some pleasant memories in the Muster.

We all join in extending Best Wishes to the Class of 1991.

The 1991 Muster Staff

To The Staff of the 1991 Muster,

There are no words that could properly express my gratitude for all that you have done for me and for the Muster.

Thank you for your support and a superb effort on the Muster. It is you who have given life to this book.

Many thanks,

Lest We Forget
Sometimes when the bands are playing
And the uniforms march by
You will find a seaman watching
With a wistful-looking eye
And you know just what he's thinking
As he hears the cheering crowd
As the soldiers and the sailors
Swing along, erect and proud.
He is thinking that his country
Saves its honor once again
For the uniforms, forgetting
All the seas' forgotten men.
He is thinking of the armies
And the food and fighting tanks
That for every safe arrival
To the seaman owe their thanks.
He is thinking of the buddies
Who have paid the final score,
Not in khaki or in the Navy
But the working clothes they wore;
And we'd like to tell him something
That we think he may not know
A reminder he can stow away
Where ever he may go.
All your countrymen are proud of you
And though there's no brass band
Not a bugle or a banner
When the merchant seamen land,
We know just the job you're doing
In your worn'out work clothes
On the seas where death is lurking
And a fellow's courage shows.
So be sure to keep your chin up
When the uniforms parade.
What a man wears doesn't matter
It's the stuff of which he's made.
